CCJAC Charter Amendment

Gabel updated the committee on an amendment to the CCJAC charter to broaden its purpose beyond the issue of justice facilities. The role of CCJAC now includes providing a forum for discussion, facilitating awareness and coordination and offering recommendations to improve criminal justice processes. The amendment also added the State's Attorney as a non-voting member.

Discussion on Juvenile Detention Alternative Initiative (JDAI).

Annie Brokenleg, the State JDAI coordinator, Brooke Reidburn, Codington County JDAI/Youth Diversion Coordinator and the Honorable Carmen Means, Circuit Judge, reviewed the status of the JDAI program. The basic purpose of JDAI is to minimize juvenile detention. The most important recent development is the hiring of Brooke Reidburn as the JDAI/Youth Diversion Coordinator at the Boys and Girls Club (see attached slides). The Coordinator is the case manager for juvenile offenders who participate in youth diversion programs as well as juveniles directed to an alternative to detention. The attached slides show:

- Breakdown of the 12 cases of youth diversion since August, 2019
- A flow chart of the juvenile justice process that includes youth diversion, conditional release and juvenile detention alternatives
- The purpose of the juvenile risk assessment instrument (RAI)

- Juvenile RAI/detention/release data for 2018 and to the current point in 2019

The RAI (attached) is a worksheet that is completed by the jail staff when a juvenile is arrested to determine the risk of re-offending or not appearing for court. The RAI produces a score indicating whether to release, detain or find an alternative for the juvenile. The jurisdiction has the authority to override the score. Overrides are generally used when the RAI indicates an alternative. The lack of current alternatives to jail often means that a choice (override) must be made between jail and release. The data show that in 2018 there were few juvenile offenders overall and only four scored for an alternative. Thus far in 2019, there have been 38 RAIs completed with 16 scoring for an alternative to jail. While the numbers are not huge, they underscore the need to develop local alternatives and the need to fully develop the conditional release process.

Update on legislative proposal to fund county buildings

Gabel reviewed a legislative proposal for the 2020 legislative session to save taxpayer dollars when counties need to build facilities. This is similar to legislation pursued by the South Dakota Association of County Commissioners in the 2019 session. The intent is to authorize counties to refer to voters a ½ cent county-wide sales tax to fund a bond to build county infrastructure. All revenue generated would have to go toward the bond thereby shortening the term of the bond and minimizing financing costs. For buildings such as jails this would amount to significant savings over funding with property tax. Once the bond is paid, the tax would have to be removed.

Pretrial jail incarceration

Gabel reviewed jail data that showed the inmate population by whether or not inmates were sentenced. The data indicate a marked increase in the proportion of unsentenced inmates since 2014. While jails will usually have a significant unsentenced population, Codington County's jail is approaching 90% unsentenced as compared to 2014, when the unsentenced population averaged 57%. Gabel pointed out that this is something the county is working to address.

Future Meeting Dates - Gabel will contact members to coordinate the next meeting date.

Adjournment Koistinen made a motion to adjourn, motion seconded, all in favor. Meeting adjourned at approximately 7:05 pm.

Override Justification:

Update on legislative proposal to fund county buildings

- Enable Counties to ask voters for ½ cent sales tax to bond funds for county buildings
 - Voters must approve
 - Would save money (all revenues go to paying bond, shortening term & lowering financing cost)
 - Fairer (not just taxing property owners)
 - Sunsets when bond is paid off
- Adopted by SDACC and SDSA

The Problem of Pretrial Incarceration

- Justice System officials doing their best to control the jail population
- But population rises
- Unsentenced part of the population increases
